Track description:

The BAM conference theme for 2021 is 'Recovering from Covid: Responsible Management and Reshaping the Economy' and this theme is echoed in the Leadership and Leadership Development SIG call for papers.

The year 2020 was a very disruptive one as the COVID-19 pandemic threatened organisations, institutions, businesses and individuals and brought about new challenges for leadership practitioners within and outside of academia and leadership researchers. The challenges created by the Covid-19 pandemic presents a unique opportunity for leaders to be at the forefront in reshaping the economy. In particular, these challenges have important implications for leadership and leadership development. Some of these challenges are highlighted in the main conference theme and reflected in our call for papers but others will no doubt occur to track members.

We welcome full and developmental papers as we explore leadership, the way we lead and leadership development, including empirical studies, theoretical contributions and interdisciplinary paper. More specifically, those that address the conference theme. We are also interested in, but not restricted by our attention to, the following themes:

- Traditional paradigms of leadership, including traits, behaviour and contingency approaches
- Leadership during and following a Crisis
- Sustainable leadership
- Management and leadership
- Leadership skills and development
- Women and leadership
