

DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME FOR DIRECTORS OF RESEARCH (DPDoR)

November - June, annually

DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME FOR DIRECTORS OF RESEARCH (DPDoR)

DPDoR, the leading programme in the sector. Designed to develop Directors of Research, and those aspiring to the role, to lead business school research strategy.

This programme will support participants to:

- Develop and enhance the skills and competencies required to be an effective Director of Research
- Increase confidence in dealing with the REF process from strategy to the presentation of results
- Lead funding strategies and drive income
- Devise research strategies, structures and management processes
- Deliver research impact

Facilitator and Speakers for 2016-2017 include:

Professor Rick Delbridge, Dean of Research, Innovation & Enterprise, Cardiff University (Facilitator)

Professor Rebecca Taylor, Dean and Director of Studies, Open University Business School

Professor Graeme Currie, Professor of Public Management, Warwick Business School

Who should attend?

- Directors of Research
- Those working towards the role of Director of Research

Dates

Runs every November to June (4 two-day sessions)

How to register

Visit chartereddabs.org or bam.ac.uk for further information.

"I would highly recommend the programme. The workshops provided the opportunity to network with colleagues from other institutions and to share experience and know-how. The benefits are far-reaching and worth the investment to attend."

*Faculty Lead on Research and Scholarship,
Regent's University London*