

BAM 2021 CONFERENCE IN THE CLOUD

Financial Management Track

Track Chairs

Raphael Markellos (University of East Anglia), Geoffrey Wood (Western University Canada) and Konstantinos Bozos (University of Leeds)

The Financial Management track provides a forum for academics and practitioners interested in financial and related professional services along with the impact of finance on management practice and research. It aims to encourage interdisciplinary thinking and collaboration across fields that span corporate finance, management, international business, regulation, decision sciences and economics. It welcomes empirical, methodological and theoretical research that has a focus on the firm or the manager as the unit of analysis. Papers need to have clearly identified managerial implications and impact potential.

For BAM2021, we are particularly interested in contributions at the intersection of financial innovation and social responsibility, healthcare finance and blockchain. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Corporate Finance
- Entrepreneurial Finance
- Private Equity
- Transnational Institutional Investors
- Alternative Investors and the Firm
- Mergers and Acquisitions
- Managerial Finance
- Financial Strategy
- Financial Decision Making
- Risk Management
- Behavioral Finance
- Responsible Investors and the Firm
- Financial Education
- Financial Literacy
- Financial Methodology
- Financial Intermediation
- Financial Technology (FinTech)
- Project Finance
- Finance of regulated firms

- Household Finance
- Financial Fairness
- Environmental Finance
